- 147 grants totalling £523,297
- 98 individuals and families helped

"A notable success has been the identification of individuals requiring more advanced support. In several cases, participants with low MMSE scores were supported to engage with GP services and progressed into further diagnostic pathways, including memory clinics and scans. These examples demonstrate the project's role in enabling earlier intervention for individuals who had not previously sought help. Overall, the combination of accessible delivery, targeted outreach and partnership working has been particularly effective."
