LOCAL COMMUNITY IMPACT

Guernsey and Alderney

£60,000 given to the Youth Commission to support Dragonflies, a family drop-in for parents, carers and pre-school children, providing a safe space to connect, play and learn together.

"This funding helps us give families a welcoming place to connect, build friendships and find support through Dragonflies. Alongside opportunities for children to play, learn and grow, we offer parents a listening ear, practical guidance and reassurance through the everyday challenges of raising young children. We can also help families access further support when they need it. For new parents, particularly those who are new to the island, having trusted people to turn to can reduce isolation, build confidence and help them feel part of the community. We are so grateful to the Freemasons' Charity for helping us bring families together and provide support that makes a real difference to parents and young children."
